From Snap to Whistle

Super Bowl XXVII between the Cowboys and the Bills was interesting on many levels. It turned out to be the Cowboy's 3rd Super Bowl victory. It also turned out to be the Bills 3rd consecutive Super Bowl loss. But perhaps the most interesting statistic is the time of play. Although from kick-off till the final gun took 3 hours and 23.1 minutes, actual play time from snap to whistle took only 15.7 minutes.

When all is said and done in your life, the most important statistic will be the amount of time you spent here on earth that actually mattered. When the final whistle is blown, the actual play time will be the sum total of those moments when your heart was moved to action by the love of God. Everything else will be as forgettable as commercials and time outs. Everything else is fluff and filler.

Ephesians 5:15-16

¹⁵ Be very careful, then, how you live—not as unwise but as wise, ¹⁶ making the most of every opportunity, because the days are evil.

I love you all,

Tim
