It's All About Me

When President Ronald Reagan was a teenager in Dixon, Illinois, he had a summer job as a lifeguard on the treacherous Rock River. One day, from his elevated perch at Lowell Park, the muscular son of a shoe salesman noticed one of Dixon's most popular girls waving at him.

"At least I thought she was waving," Reagan recalls. "My chest puffed out a little, and I waved back. Then I turned away for a moment. When I looked again, she was going down. She had tried to signal for help."

Self-absorbed people interpret life only one way--with self at the center. As a result, they are completely oblivious to the many important opportunities life presents to serve those in need.

Matthew 16:26

What good will it be for a man if he gains the whole world, yet forfeits his soul? Or what can a man give in exchange for his soul?"

I love you all,

Tim
